A Word to Republicans.

The hope of the party lies in the expansion of a statesmanlike Republican press. The Republicans who read or otherwise help to support the public papers, ought to confine their efforts to one of his own papers, newspapers are untrue to the Republican cause.

Unanimously submitted to the National Republican League.

J. CLARKSON President.

A. B. HUMPHREY, Secretary.

The American Protective Tariff League will pay $1,000 to that Democratic editor or writer who will show that paper of the quality and kind used by him to publish his McKinley prices falsehoods cannot be purchased in the open market from 5 to 40 per cent cheaper than it cost under the old tariff.

"A strong point in the carpet market this season," says The Dry Goods Economist, "is the exceptionally low price of superior goods, bringing them within the popular demand." "Exceptionally low price of superior goods" doesn't sound much like shoddy. The Tariff reformer seems to be hedging.

THAT the Free-trade editors do not themselves believe what they try to make their readers believe about the non-existence of tin plate making in this country, was made manifest by their report of the recent fire in the Nederlands tin plate establishment at St. Louis. Now, evidently, if there was no tin plate factory, it could not burn down, but the Free-trade papers confidently assured their readers that it did burn down. From which we conclude that the editors all along knew of its existence, and in the excitement of the fire forgot that they were keeping the knowledge of it from their readers.

CONGRESSMAN BOATNER of Louisiana was one of the Democratic members of the Congressional Committee sent to Homestead to investigate the labor trouble there.

MR. BOATNER ON HOMESTEAD WAS NO DOUBT AS ANXIOUS TO GET HOME AS ANYONE OF THE OTHER FREE TRADE

"reformers" to make capital out of the bloody work done on the banks of the Monongahela. But he met with poor success. The height of the wages paid to the iron and steel workers so astonished him that he seems to have lost his head and gave vent to an expression which has gone far to make the name of a socialist a bit of the other Free-traders to represent the Homestead men as the oppressed and wretchedly paid creatures of their Free-trade fancy.

Mr. BOATNER was examining the amount of the works and elicited the information that wages were paid fairly at Homestead and that the payroll was about $60,000. The average wages made by the great majority of the workers, skilled and unskilled, was nearly $3 a day. They had averaged as high as $60 a month. Several thousand employees of the company earned over $100 a month. Looking incredulously over the table of wages, Mr. BOATNER said: "Are these amounts paid the men for their individual labor?" The manager, apparently surprised at the question, replied: "Certainly, sir." Whereupon the Louisiana blurted out:

"WELL, THOSE ARE THE HIGHEST WAGES I EVER HEARD OF."

Common sense and reason had more or less asserted themselves for a moment over the bias of partisanship and thus freed from this Free-trader verbal recognition of the simple fact, patent to every human understanding capable of comprehending the meaning of simple English expressed in large print, that the wages paid at Homestead, those offered by the employers as well as those demanded by the men, are positively the largest paid on earth for similar work.

IT seems that the foreign manufacturers, inspired by American Free-traders, have asked to be permitted to exhibit their goods at the World's Fair with pleasure giving PRIZE PLACARDS. Their prices at the place of manufacture and also the prices with the McKinley Tariff added. American Celotees are already putting themselves on the backs over this brilliant move, which they think will greatly impress visitors to the Fair with the desirability of a speedy abolition of the McKinley Tariff.

The way to meet them and beat them at their own game is for American manufacturers to placard their own goods with the prices and wages paid in producing them, side by side with the wages paid to produce the foreign article. Something like this would be the result.

AMERICAN MANUFACTURES.

Wire Nail.

Price, 14 cents a pound. Average wages $2.50 a day in the United States. $1.50 in England.

Culico.

Price, 40 cents a yard. Average wages $1.00 in the United States. $0.90 in England.

ENGLISH MANUFACTURES.

Wire Nail.

Price, 12 cents a pound in England. With McKinley Tariff added, 32 cents a pound.

Steel Rolls.

Price, $20.00 a ton in England. With McKinley Tariff added, $29.60 a ton.

Culico.

Price, 5 cents a yard in England. With McKinley Tariff added, 10 cents a yard.

No doubt visitors would be impressed, but it would be with the superior quality of the domestic product, its phenomenal cheapness as compared with the imported article considering the higher labor cost of its manufacture, the inexplicable stupidity of him who would import from England when so good and cheap goods can be had at home, and the admirable justice of making him, if he persists, in his determination to do so, pay roundly into the United States Treasury for the privilege of doing it. All by means let us have the placard system at Chicago.

RECEIPT FOR A GOOD TOWN.

Grit. 10 cents. Sheep. 10 cents.

Emery. 10 cents. Morality. Harmony. Goodwill. Advertising. 10 cents. Write about it. Cheap property. Special favors. Help to Improve It. Advertising. Good country. Parsonize its merchants. Help all public enterprises. Help all public enterprises. Make the atmosphere healthy. Help to get good roads. Fire all blasters, cranks, and dead-heads. ## PARLIAMENT.

The New Organization Reassembled Thursday.

Gladstone Enthusiastically Greeted in the House.

Sir Charles Dilke Makes a Funny Mistake in Selecting His Seat—Used a Historic Seesaw for General Seats Indulged In—Prominent Members Cheered.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The new parliament reassembled at 9 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the first meeting after the adjournment of its session in order that he might select the seat he desired to occupy. Sir Charles Dilke, who was chosen to sit for the Forest of Dean division of Gloucestershire, came in at 11 o'clock, and when selecting his seat by drawing lots, he selected the one placing his hat upon the portion of the bench he wishes to occupy, he inadvertently placed his hat upon the government side of the house. When his error was pointed out to him, he once again placed it on the side occupied by himself when last a member of the house.

By 1 o'clock nearly all the opposition seats were filled. Meanwhile a number of members of the yeoman of the guard had reached the house and the historic seesaw, or wooden chair, which occupies buildings which has been made at the opening of every parliament since the attempt of Guy Fawkes and his plotters to blow up the king's ministers and the members of both houses, at the opening of parliament November 5, 1605, had been carried out.

When the house of lords assembled with the usual ceremony the gentleman usher of the Black Rod summoned the members to meet outside of common to hear the reading of the commission for the new parliament.

Upon their return to the house of commons the members proceeded to the election of a speaker.

The meetings Thursday were purely formal and no business will be transacted until next week.

The queen's council at which the speech from the throne is signed, will be held at Osborne on Saturday.

At 11 o'clock Chamberlain, Mr. Bulwer, the government leader in the house and other prominent members entered the chamber they were heartily cheered. Mr. Gladstone made his appearance in the house soon after 2 o'clock and was given an enthusiastic reception. The cheering members rose in a body, waving their hats and cheering. They were joined in these demonstrations by the Liberals. When Mr. Gladstone had taken his seat he was surrounded by a crowd of members of the house, irrespective of party, all anxious to congratulate him and shake his hand.

Mr. Gladstone appeared to have entirely recovered from his recent indisposition.

Sir M. W. Ridley (conservative), member for the Blackpool division of Lancashire, moved that the Right Hon. Arthur Wellesley Peels who was speaker of the house be elected speaker of the new parliament. The motion was seconded by Mr. Gladstone, and Mr. Peel was declared to have been re-elected.

Somebody Quoted.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—The Iron Hall Building Co had its regular yearly meeting at 1317 Arch street this city, and elected officers for the ensuing year. The meeting was largely attended and lasted until long after midnight. There was some close voting, which resulted in the defeat of Freeman D. Somerly for reelection as president, although he was reelected a trustee. The other candidates, of whom fifteen were elected. A number of women stockholders attended, but the two women candidates for trustee were defeated by the men. A R. Elsasser was elected president and Col. H. Williams was reelected treasurer.

The Bicycles in War.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 5.—Young, in charge of Jefferson barracks here, in conjunction with local cyclists is arranging for several new tests of the availability of bicycles in military maneuvers. As a thorough test of the wheel in courier experiments, for instance, the cyclists will be sent to cover the same territory and so get the difference in time, etc., between the two. It is also more than likely that a big relay race will be arranged between St. Louis and Chicago.

A Soldier in Prison.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 5.—William Hodson, a master drayman and a member of a prominent family in this city, was shot and killed Thursday afternoon by his son Harry, with whom he has had trouble, and it is felt that the son's desire to avenge his father's death caused him to kill his son. Hodson was shot through the heart and died almost immediately. He had been wounded with grape shots. Every cordfield within a radius of ten miles square is a complete loss and oats are ruined.

SEVERAL LIVES LOST

BY THE BREAKING OF A PENNED UP CATTLE

IN THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Mr. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 5.—It now turns out that the torrent of waters rushing down the hill Tuesday night resulted much more disastrously than at first reported. Three people were killed and seven severely injured. So far as is known the late Mr. A. is dead.

Mrs. August Adams, Mrs. J. Horn, Wm. Krieger. Those wounded mainly are: Philip Stoehr and five-year-old son, August Adams, Frederick Kreiger, Paul Kekulé, Henry Ludwig, John Willrich.

The accident was the result of late heavy rains. Up on the hill side above the page street was a deep gully, the natural outlet of the water from the hillside above. A large stone had been held up across this gully, having a small culvert to carry off the ordinary water. This culvert had long ago been closed up, and the recent storm had filled the deep basin to the bottom, making it a lake ten acres in extent and forty feet deep.

On Monday there appeared a crack three inches wide on the lower side of the hill but there was no thought of immediate danger. On Sunday night the right the fill fell to, and with a mighty rush the vast body of water swept down upon the lowland below. In ten minutes the whole thing was over and the work of rescue began. A general alarm of fire was sounded and all the available teams and horses were sent to the scene. Men, women and children were fished out of the debris and wrecks extending nearly half a mile. To add to the horror of the scene the water had washed away the gas pipes left everything in darkness. It is possible that the extent of the loss of life may be increased.
